I LOOK AT THIS AGAIN

1 April 2027

whatever has happened by then

The money, from first guess to checked figure

You wrote these numbers three times, weeks apart. This is the only place they sit side by side.

Step 1 · September	€2,000	what you thought a month would cost
Step 2 · October	€2,450	what you found, against real rents, the energy tariff and a supermarket list
Step 3 · November	€1,600	confirmed and agreed income a month. Hoped income left out, as the workbook asks
Put aside	€16,350	savings you can reach within a month

Your checked costs are 23% higher than your first guess. Step 2 asks you to go back through both sets of figures when they differ by more than 20% — you did, on 28 October.

You are €850 short each month, which your savings cover for about 19 months. That is your runway if nothing changes.

What changed along the way

In Step 1 you wanted

“A slower week by the sea, with the children outdoors after school.”

In Step 2 you chose

“São Martinho do Porto — the small town, not the village.”

In Step 3 you decided

“Go, as a trial year, with conditions.”

Every figure on this page comes from your own answers. Nothing is estimated for you.

What does not line up yet

Not advice — just the places where two things you wrote yourself do not yet agree. Each one names where it came from.

-  A must-have you have not proved
“A school the children can walk to” Step 1 · must-haves — still an estimate in Step 2, and a condition in Step 3
-  An unknown you carried all the way through
“What the winter damp is like in a house of that age” Step 2 · still unknown — your February visit is the test
-  An amber light without a date
Plan B — “until a tenant has signed for our house” Step 3 · 1.5 — the other three conditions have dates, this one does not
-  No dealbreaker is broken
“Further than four hours from my parents” · “Giving up my own income” Step 1 · dealbreakers — checked against your decision in Step 3 · 4.1

What happens next

Your own dates, in order. Nothing here was chosen for you.

-  BEFORE 15 MARCH
Meet two care providers for Ben’s mother
your first step · Step 3 · 4.2
-  FEBRUARY
Visit in the wet season, and sit still for an hour
what you wanted to test in person · Step 2 · Part 4
-  BEFORE 1 MARCH
Lotte’s income confirmed in writing

condition · Step 3 · 1.1

BEFORE MAY

School places confirmed · a tenant signed for the house conditions · Step 3 · 1.3 and 1.5

1 APRIL 2027

Look at this decision again, whatever has happened your review date · Step 3 · 4.2

Step 4, Prepare, turns this into a moving plan. Until then, this is your plan.

My Working Direction

Lotte Jansen · finished 2 October 2026

My life picture in three sentences

A slower week by the sea, with the children outdoors after school.
Work that pays enough and ends at six.
A house we can afford without both of us working weekends.

The direction I want to explore

The Silver Coast, renting for a trial year, both of us working remotely.

My must-haves

A school the children can walk to. Fast internet. A hospital within 30 minutes.

My dealbreakers

Being further than four hours from my parents. Giving up my own income.

My Explore Summary

Lotte Jansen · finished 28 October 2026

The place I want to explore further

São Martinho do Porto, Leiria district – the small town, not the village.

What a normal month costs there

€2,450, checked against rentals, the energy tariff and a real supermarket list. October 2026.

What is still unknown

Whether the school has places for both children.

What the winter damp is like in a house of that age.

My Decision

Lotte Jansen · finished 14 November 2026

My decision

Go, as a trial year, with conditions. We sign nothing hard to undo until the conditions are true.

Why: my three main reasons

Our ordinary days there look like our Life Picture.
The money lasts about 17 months even if everything costs 30% more.
The children are curious rather than against it.

Conditions that must be true before the big steps

Lotte's income confirmed. Care for Ben's mother arranged. A tenant signed. School places confirmed.

You will never be completely sure.
But you can be ready enough, and know what to do next.
